NEW COURT ROOM ▶

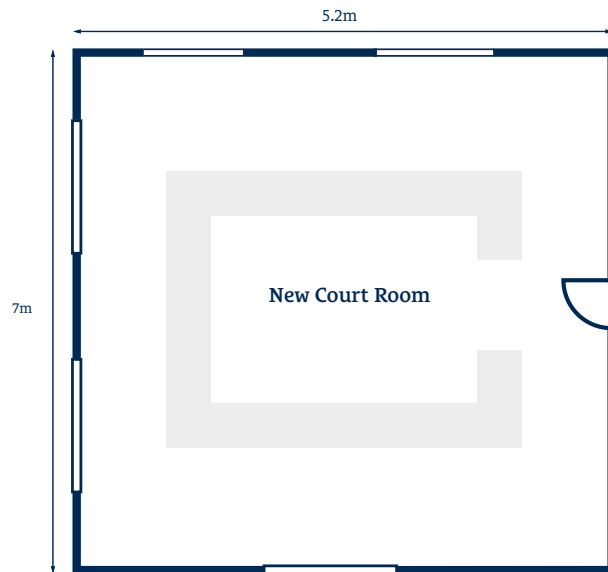

The New Court Room, suitable for Conferences or Board Meetings (for up to 30 people) is a wonderful amalgam of traditional panelling and twenty-first century furnishings.

To celebrate the Millennium the Innholders commissioned John Makepeace to design and make a set of tables and chairs and a carpet to complement the furniture.

THE GREAT HALL ▶

The Great Hall, or Dining Hall, is central to the Worshipful Company's hospitality, providing seating for over 85 people in splendid and historic surroundings.

The Hall is richly panelled in oak, the original cladding dating from 1670, with subsequent renovations and restoration - the most recent in 1941, following bomb damage.

There is a 17th century minstrels' gallery, originally sited across the north-east corner, but now repositioned centrally on the east wall.

OLD COURT ROOM ▶

Leading off the Reception Area, the Old Court Room is situated on the ground floor and is an ideal size for small meetings, for entertaining guests at a reception or for holding a dinner for up to 25 people.

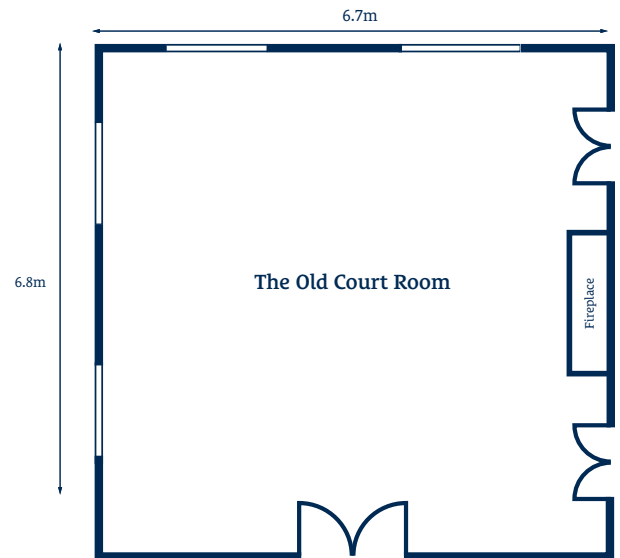

The Room boasts a wonderful plaster ceiling, dated 1670 and a rare example of fine domestic plasterwork from the Restoration period. It has a central oval moulding of fruit with spandrels at each corner, one containing the date 1670, the other the City's red cross of St George, the arms of the Company and those of the sovereign, Charles II respectively.
